

Time

By

Angie Baggett

“Oh, the plans I have and the things I would do if given the time!”

In this current state, it feels sublime

This cry, this mantra, this plea

Many have exclaimed throughout history

Hustle, bustle, push, and fill

Complain and do nothing different still

The wisdom of the All

Looks with empathy upon me in awe.

What have I done with my day, my week, my year?

With less of some and more of other, did I spend the extra on fear?